Frequently Asked Questions: Home Education Student Eligibility for Interscholastic Extracurricular Activities with Florida High School Athletic Association (FHSAA)

1. Are home education students eligible for interscholastic extracurricular activities?

Yes. Home education students who meet the standards for participation in interscholastic extracurricular activities (s.1006.15 F.S.) and the requirements of the Home Education Program (s.1002.41 F.S.) are eligible.

2. Is a student taught at home through a Florida private school a home education student?

No. According to Florida Statute a parent must choose one way to comply with regular attendance under the compulsory attendance law.

F.S.1003.01 (13) "Regular school attendance" means the actual attendance of a student during the school day as defined by law and rules of the State Board of Education. Regular attendance within the intent of s. 1003.21 F.S. may be achieved by attendance in:

- (a) A public school supported by public funds;
- (b) A parochial, religious, or denominational school;
- (c) A private school supported in whole or in part by tuition charges or by endowments or gifts;
- (d) A home education program that meets the requirements of chapter 1002; OR
- (e) A private tutoring program that meets the requirements of chapter 1002.

Notice the OR between (d) and (e). It is not an AND. Although many organizations tell parents that they can "home school" their children three ways, Florida law provides only one way.

Therefore, a student is only eligible for extracurricular activities (s.1006.15 F.S.) by registering with the school district in a Home Education Program and meeting the requirements of s. 1002.41 F.S.

A student cannot be enrolled/registered as a full-time student, working toward high school completion or a diploma with a Florida private school, at the same time he/she is registered in a home education program.

3. Does Florida law distinguish between the various kinds of private schools?

No. A private school by any name is a Florida private school if it has a Florida Department of Education school number. Private or religious schools in Florida are not required to have a physical location nor have certified teachers. Although there are many names for private schools or religious schools, such as umbrella school, correspondence school, non-traditional private school or a "600" school, the Florida

Home education students do not receive school district diplomas. There are other avenues for diplomas, including those issued by the parent or the student can take the GED and receive a State of Florida diploma. Home education students may also earn an AA or AS diploma at a community college through dual enrollment, early admission or after completion of a home education program. A home education student may earn a diploma from an out-of-state correspondence school, such as the American School and University of Nebraska-Lincoln. A list of regionally accredited correspondence programs can be found on the Florida Department of Education website at: http://www.floridaschoolchoice.org/information/home education/regionac.asp.

8. Can a student take the majority of his/her courses in a Florida private or public school while registered in a home education program?

No. The issue is where the student is registered for attendance purposes. If the child takes more than half of his/her courses, reports attendance or earns enough credits to receive a diploma at a single Florida private or public school, then the student becomes a student of that school and is not a home education student. A student registered with the school district's Home Education Office, however, may take most or all courses through Florida Virtual School, which does not report attendance or issue diplomas (also see 12B).

As noted in question #2, s. 1003.01(13) F.S. regular attendance requires a choice. A student cannot be enrolled in two options. Either the parent maintains the records in a home education program or the Florida private school maintains the records and the student is eligible to receive a diploma from the private school.

9. What are the consequences for a student being enrolled in a home education program and a private school at the same time?

Athletics are very competitive and the stakes are high. Winning a state championship is what drives many coaches and parents. A student who is registered in both a home education program and a Florida private school during the same school year could be reported to the FHSAA and found ineligible to participate in extracurricular activities.

If a school has an ineligible player on the team, regardless of the reason, the entire team could be disqualified for the state play-off series and required to forfeit all games in which the ineligible player participated. This happened in 2004 to a home education cooperative which had reached the state baseball play-off series. The team was disqualified and all the students on the team lost their chance to play for a state title.

Parents need to carefully consider the consequences for not only their child, but other students who have worked so hard to participate in extracurricular activities.

If the student is registered with the school district as a home education student and takes less than 50% of the courses through a district virtual school, then the student is eligible to participate as a home education student at the zoned public school or at a private school.

B) Florida Virtual School

If the student is registered with the school district as a home education student and takes part-time or full-time classes through the Florida Virtual School, the student is eligible to participate as a home education student. Participation would be at the public school to which the student would be normally assigned according to the district school board attendance area policies or the public school the student could choose to attend pursuant to district or interdistrict controlled open enrollment provision, or may develop an agreement to participate at a private school.

C) Out-of-State Virtual Schools

If a student is taking classes through an out-of-state virtual school or distance learning program, then the student must register as a home education student with the superintendent in the school district in which the student resides to be in compliance with the attendance requirements. The student would then be eligible to participate under the same options as described above in 12 B.

Non-Traditional Student Deadline to Register Intent

Registration Requirements for Non-Traditional Students — Non-traditional students must register intent to participate at a school before participation in the sport in which they wish to participate. A student, who registered intent with a school during the previous school year and wishes to participate in the SAME sport(s) and has not changed affiliation in any other sport with a different school, does not need to re-register intent. To register intent, one or more of the following forms may be used (the exact forms depend on the type of non-traditional student):

- EL2 Form (must be completed each year)
- EL3 Form (must be completed each year)
- EL7 Form (home education students only)
- EL12 Form (students attending small, non-member private schools only)
- GA4 Form

A student cannot have intent registered at more than one school at the same time, i.e. same sport season. If a student chooses to register intent at another school during the same school year, the transfer rules in Bylaw 9.3.2 and state statute § 1006.15(9), F.S. will apply.

There is no longer a specific deadline date to register intent. Intent must be registered before any participation in the desired sport. However, to take full advantage the athletic experience, a student should register intent before the first day of allowable practice for the desired sport. Also note, as per Bylaw 9.1.1.1, local school or school district rules may be more stringent.

Heat-Related Illness Information

Heat-related illness is a cause for concern for student-athletes who participate in high school sports in Florida. Especially vulnerable are those students who participate in conditioning and practices in the summer months and other times of extreme heat. Student-athletes suffer heat-related illness when their bodies cannot properly cool themselves by sweating. Sweating is the body's natural air conditioning, but when a person's body temperature rises rapidly, sweating just is not enough. Heat-related illnesses can be serious and life-threatening. Very high body temperatures may damage the brain or other vital organs and can cause disability and even death. Heat-related illnesses and deaths are preventable.

What are some common heat-related injuries in sports?

Exertional Heat Stroke (EHS): EHS is the most serious heat-related illness. EHS is a medical emergency. It happens when the body's temperature rises quickly, and the body cannot cool down. Student-athletes can die or become permanently disabled from EHS if not properly recognized and managed. EHS is one of the leading causes of death in young athletes, especially in Florida. The two main criteria for diagnosing EHS are rectal temperature >105F (40.5C) immediately post collapse and central nervous system (CNS) dysfunction. There are many signs and symptoms associated with EHS. Parents and student-athletes should familiarize themselves with these by viewing the free video resources provided by the National Federation of High School Sports (NFHS) or the FHSAA.

- EHS is preventable by taking the proper precautions and understanding the symptoms of someone who has become ill due to heat.
- EHS is survivable when quick action is taken by staff members that includes early recognition of symptoms and aggressive cold-water immersion.

Heat Exhaustion (EHI): Heat exhaustion is the most common heat-related condition observed in active populations including student-athletes. EHI is a type of heat-related illness. EHI is defined as the inability to continue exercise in the heat because the heart has difficulty providing enough oxygenated blood to all the working organs and muscles. It usually develops after several days practicing or conditioning in high temperature weather and not drinking enough fluids.

Heat Cramps: Heat cramps are painful, involuntary cramping often in the legs, arms, or abdomen with muscle contraction. Cramping usually occurs in the preseason conditioning phase when the body is not properly conditioned and more subject to fatigue. Heat cramps can easily be treated with rest, stretching of the muscle, and replacement of fluid and electrolytes. The exact mechanism of muscle cramps in warm environmental conditions is unknown but can be caused acutely by extensive dehydration and sodium losses or chronically via inadequate electrolytes in the athlete's diet. Although heat cramps are not a cause of sudden death, it can be confused with the more serious condition, exertional sickling.

Is my student at risk?

Yes, all student-athletes are vulnerable to exertional heat stroke and other heat-related injuries. While every student-athlete can succumb to EHS, newer data is reporting a high incidence of exertional heat stroke cases in football players, especially those who play the lineman position and in very lean distance runners. Research also states many reports of EHS emergencies are during summertime or preseason conditioning sessions. Other conditions that can increase your risk for heat-related illness include obesity, fever, dehydration, poor circulation, sunburn, and prescription drug or alcohol use.

What is the FHSAA doing to keep my student safe?

The FHSAA has published Policy 41, titled "Exertional Heat Illness". This policy provides specific procedures for schools to educate student-athletes and parents on EHI as well as strategies to prevent these injuries. FHSAA Policy 41 also provides procedures for schools to follow for preseason acclimatization, environmental monitoring, and the inclusion of cooling zones for the management of a student-athlete suffering from a heat injury.

How can I help to keep my student safe when it comes to the heat?

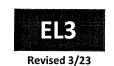

- Learn more about heat-related injuries in sports at https://www.nfhs.org/media/1015695/ksi-5-pillars-of-exertional-heat-stroke-prevention-2015.pdf
- Discuss nutrition, proper hydration, body weight, and the importance of sleep and rest with your family healthcare provider at the time fo the sports physical
- Talk to your school and coach about safeguards they have in place to keep kids safe in the heat and what they will do for someone who becomes ill or injured
- Monitor fluid intake of your student while at home and routinely check in with your student-athlete to inquire about how they feel
- Report any concerns with your school's athletic trainer, team physician, coach, or your family healthcare provider

Attention Student and Parent(s)/Guardian(s)

Your school is a member of the Florida High School Athletic Association (FHSAA) and follows established rules. To be eligible to represent your school in interscholastic athletics, in an FHSAA recognized and/or sanctioned sport, the student:

- 1. Must complete an EL3 for each school at which the student participates; this form is non-transferable.
- 2. Must display good sportsmanship and follow the rules of competition before, during, and after every contest in which the student participates. If not, the student may be suspended from participation for a period of time. (FHSAA Bylaw 7.1)
- 3. Must not provide false information to his/her school or to the FHSAA to gain eligibility. (FHSAA Bylaw 9.1.1.2)
- 4. Must be regularly enrolled in and in regular attendance at your school. If the student is a home education student, a charter school student, an alternative/special school student, a non-member private school student, or a Florida Virtual School Full-Time Public Program student, the student must declare in writing his/her intent to participate in athletics to the school at the student is permitted to participate. Home Education students and students attending a non-member private school must complete additional paperwork prior to participating. (FHSAA Bylaw 9.2, FHSAA Policy 16.6, and Administrative Procedure 1.8)
- 5. Must attend school within the first ten (10) days of the beginning of each semester to be eligible during that semester. (FHSAA Bylaw 9.2.3)
- 6. Must maintain at least a cumulative 2.0 GPA on a 4.0 scale (unweighted) prior to the semester in which the student wishes to participate. This GPA must include all courses taken since the student entered 9th grade. A 6th, 7th, or 8th grade student must have earned at least a 2.0 GPA on a 4.0 scale (unweighted) during the previous semester. (FHSAA Bylaw 9.4.1 and F.S. 1006.15(3)a)
- 7. Must not have graduated from any high school or its equivalent. (FHSAA Bylaw 9.4.7)
- 8. Must not have enrolled in the 9th grade for the first time more than eight consecutive semesters ago. A 6th, 7th, or 8th grade student may not participate at any level if the student is repeating that grade level. (FHSAA Bylaw 9.5)
